The Motofix Group invests in the future of young talent with AutoRaise

The Motofix Group, one of the leading UK independent vehicle accident repair and bodyshop groups, is pleased to reveal it will be hosting a Motofix AutoRaise collaborative event at the Group's Yeovil site on 23rd February 2017. This announcement was made at the recent AutoRaise launch event at the Tower of London.

The Motofix AutoRaise event will provide attendees with an educational insight into the industry, which previously may not have been a career path consideration. Alongside support from car brands and suppliers, event attendees will have the opportunity to experience paintwork demonstrations and have practical involvement in aspects of car body repairs. Motofix will be welcoming local schools, teachers, career advisors and parents to the event, to inspire advocacy of such a promising apprenticeship scheme.

The partnership with AutoRaise confirms Motofix's commitment to developing potential in the workplace, whilst providing apprentices with the opportunity to begin prosperous careers with Motofix. Fully supporting AutoRaise's multi-skilled technician Apprenticeship Standard demonstrates Motofix's focus on maintaining its position as a leading UK independent vehicle accident repair and bodyshop group.

The Motofix Group's Managing Director, Richard Tutt comments, "I am proud to announce our association with AutoRaise as we look to invest heavily in the future of young technicians. The apprenticeship scheme will fundamentally revolutionise the way in which our bodyshops appoint apprentices. The event at our Yeovil site is set to open eyes to the automotive industry and actively inspire the next generation of apprentices."

Anyone wishing to become involved in the Motofix AutoRaise event at the Group's Yeovil site should contact Kate Goodwin, the Group's Commercial Director, on 07753 236891 or k.goodwin@motofix-arc.co.uk.
